Day 1

15 October

10 AM - Giudecca House of female imprisonment

The house of imprisonment is located in an ancient monastery founded in the twelfth century. There is a special place, which many people (journalists, photographers, directors) come to visit: the vegetable garden. A bit of everything is grown, including the typical local vegetables: the Treviso radicchio (and there is a tub for the bleaching), the Paduan broccoli, that of Creazzo, the violet artichoke of Sant'Erasmo. The production is abundant and that the fruits and vegetables collected are sold at the market that two prisoners set up outside the prison every Thursday morning. Part of the production ends up in the stock exchanges distributed by the local solidarity buying groups or supplies some restaurants in Venice, while the aromatic and medicinal herbs are used by the cosmetic laboratory for the preparation of bath products of some hotels: detergents, balsams, creams.

3 PM - LIDO San Camillo Hospital Foundation - Therapeutic Garden

Inside the tree-lined park of the Hospital we host the first therapeutic garden in Italy specifically designed for patients hospitalized in neurorehabilitation, also accessible to wheelchair patients and equipped with garden tubs that allow everyone to participate in the activities.

18 PM - Garden of the Palazzo Rizzo Patarol

The garden of the seventeenth-century Palazzo Rizzo Patarol, which in the twentieth century was the site of a convent and now houses the Grand Hotel dei Dogi, was originally the private botanical garden of Lorenzo Patarol, cited as "one of the Venetian singularities to be shown to foreigners". It overlooks the northern lagoon through an elegant Palladian-inspired lodge, redesigned by Giuseppe Jappelli.

In 2014 we started the Orto del Campanile with the recovery of a large green space behind the Church of the Carmini in Venice, which has remained a landfill for years.
